

Basic CIT-FO Certification Class

Class Overview

The Basic Crisis Intervention Class (CIT-FO) is designed to be an interactive five day, 40-hour class, which addresses basic verbal de-escalation skills. It is designed for sworn law enforcement officers. During the course of the week-long class participants will gain knowledge regarding crises and how people respond or behave in crisis. The concept of mental illness and its effect on the verbal interaction will be addressed as well.

Participants are expected to actively engage in over ten hours of live scenario situations. One of our goals is to teach officers about crises and mental illness in order to improve their ability and confidence to predict and respond to abnormal behaviors. We believe that if you can predict or anticipate behavior with some degree of accuracy you can become a safer officer.

Through the class activities participants will gain an overall understanding that CIT is designed to be an added tool for the Law Enforcement Officer's tool belt. It is not designed to be a replacement for current skills or other tools. During the week we will identify key issues and history that have prompted law enforcement agencies to pursue more innovative approaches (such as officer safety, decrease in chronic callers, etc.) to crisis management such as CIT.

The class instructors will be current law enforcement officers, police psychologists, mental health providers, and retired law enforcement officers with extensive expertise and experience in verbal de-escalation and crisis management.

It also meets & exceeds the mandatory requirements for Interactions with Person with Mental Illness (formerly HB93) officer biennium training.
